Ella della Rovere Berlin

from medicine to painting

During my long lasting medical career I used, amongst others, various siringes, cannulas, tubes. In my painting I use them as well.

In medicine drugs flow through the cannulas. On my canvas paint flows through it, thick and thin, colorful and grey, as lines, dots, drops or spirals. I use the brush for the motives of my paintings. The siringes and cannulas provide the fine and precise.

Only the tools still connect my painting with the medicine. For the topics for my images I look in other areas of my live. Thus I would like to inspire reflection.....

....This may be a different kind of treatment....
